Material Title: Calming the Tempest: Helping the Explosive Child (DVD)
 Author: DVD DVDs 2004 35 minutes

Material covered in this DVD is based upon the first edition of the book "The Explosive Child" by Ross Greene, Ph.D. DVD features Ross Greene, Ph.D. and J. Stuart Ablon, Ph.D. Co-Directors of the Center for Collaborative Problem Solving. Many adults have face a child's or teenager's explosiveness, unsure of how to respond. Do I punish him for the outburst? Should I try to be understanding of how she is feeling and ignore the ugly behavior? In reality, many children who have difficulty managing their anger need to be taught the skills necessary for coping with frustration and situations that demand flexibility. It is the lack of cognitive skills that contributes to the angry outbursts. Calming the Tempest provides parents, teachers, and caretakers with an awareness and overview of how to teach these skills at home and at school.

Material Title: Common Sense Parenting: Teaching Children Self-Control (DVD)
Author: DVD DVDs 2006 28 min

Teaching children how to stay in control when they are frustrated or angry is a difficult parenting challenge. This DVD gives you the tools to handle emotionally intense situations with your child. Learning how to stay calm yourself is the first step you must take when facing an upset child. Then the DVD demonstrates how you can calm the child down and, once he or she is in control again, do a follow-up teaching. Here, the child practices how to behave better when feeling angry or upset. Teaching self-control gives both of you the time and space to calm down and to work toward fewer angry outbursts in the future.

Material Title: Healing for the Attachment Challenged, Angry and Defiant Child (4 DVDs)
Author: Brian Post DVDs 2005 6 hours

B. Bryan Post talks about parenting children with attachment disorders. He says that the only emotions are love and fear, and when children misbehave, fear is what is driving their behavior. Parents who react to this behavior with fear only make it worse, but parents who make children feel safe can reduce the fear in those children.

Material Title: Keeping Families Healthy (3 Audiotapes)
Author: Holly van Gulden Audiotapes 2002 3 hours 30 mins

Healthy siblings seldom receive enough attention and support when another child acts out. How do parents and children cope with this dilemma? What are healthy children's needs in time of crisis? This first of three workshops attempts to clarify such issues.

Adopted children who struggle with unresolved loss and/or poor attachment often exhibit acute episodes of rage and chronic or intermittent patterns of passive-aggressive non-compliance. Understandably, such behaviors can and do trigger angry responses, sometimes rage, in parents and siblings. This workshop analyzes anger and offers techniques for avoiding continual battles, managing healthier anger resolution, de-escalating rage episodes, and establishing a healthy, joyful family environment.

When the adopted child brings severe stress to the family, parents need help in sorting out what is going on. What are the needs of the child, siblings, and parents? This workshop discusses how to help parents evaluate conflicting needs of family members and how to let go of their dream -- their expectations of this child and their adoption.
