Summer 2007

ORPARC is a program of Northwest Resource Associates

Deborah Gray comes to Portland!

ORPARC is bringing Deborah Gray to Portland on Saturday, September 22nd to speak on Attachment and Special Issues with Teens. See trainings on page 3 for details.

Deborah Gray, founder of Nurturing Attachments, is a clinical social worker specializing in the areas of attachment, grief, and trauma. She has spent over 15,000 hours in the last 15 years counseling children who have been fostered or adopted from the United States or internationally. Her private practice philosophy is one of empowering parents with information and techniques so that their skills and styles are used in meeting the needs of their children. Her passion is helping children and families develop close, satisfying relationships.

Deborah Gray's new book

Deborah Gray, whose 2002 book, Attaching in Adoption: Practical Tools for Today's Parents, is one of the most frequently borrowed books in our library, has just come out with a new book, Nurturing Adoptions: Creating Resilience after Neglect and Trauma. Here is a toolbox to help therapists and other professionals whose practices are not focused specifically on adoption and attachment. It lays out the foundations of research in this field, explaining how and why children respond to stresses of their early lives. From there, Gray helps professionals and families to create a milieu that will build self-esteem in their children and guide them into strong, healthy relationships and productive adulthood. Both books are available in the ORPARC library.

Deborah stresses practical approaches of promoting attachment, shaping behavior, and working through trauma and grief. She was a keynote speaker for the 2005 ATTACH conference and has keynoted national conferences including the Joint Council of International Children's Services, American Association of Adoption Attorneys, Midwest Adoption Conference and Families for Russian and Ukrainian Adoption. She is a faculty member for the University of Washington's Trauma Certificate program and has taught for Portland State University and Northwest Adoption Exchange post-graduate foster care and adoption therapy programs. She trains regularly for public and non-profit foster care and adoption programs.

Welcome aboard Toni & Momi!

ORPARC is pleased to announce the addition of two new family support specialists to our team.

Momi Buren, MSW joins us from California with 8 years experience working with children and families in adoptions and the foster care system. She has a Master of Social Work from San Jose State University and a Bachelor of Arts from Pacific Christian College. She has worked in all aspects of the adoption process from initial placement to ongoing supportive services and finalization. Momi is also an experienced trainer for foster and adoptive families with particular expertise in the de-escalation and managing of crisis situations. Momi enjoys her two cats, and working on her new fixer upper home in Newberg. She also volunteers her time to a non-profit organization, Haven of Hope Ranch, which provides Equestrian Therapy to restore the heart, soul, mind, and strength of disadvantaged children.

Toni Ferguson, MSW, comes to us from Portland State University's Graduate School of Social Work and Child Welfare Partnership where she has been an instructor for the past 6 years. While there she was instrumental in the development of the Post Graduate Certificate Program in Therapy with Adoptive Families. Prior to that position, Toni was a member of the innovative Post Adoption Family therapist Team (PAFT) at DHS, where she provided highly specialized, intensive treatment services to adoptive families of special needs children. Before PAFT, Toni had acquired over 20 years' experience in education and child welfare systems including the positions of Permanency Worker, Foster Home Certifier, School Social Worker, and Adoptive/Foster Parent Trainer. Toni's Bachelor of Science degrees are in Psychology and Sociology from Portland State University, and she holds a Master's of Social Work from the School of Social Work and Child Welfare at Walla Walla College. Toni and her husband have raised six children through birth and adoption who are now thriving adults.

We are excited to welcome these highly skilled professionals to our team, and are confident that you will find them to be knowledgeable, warm and caring individuals ready to assist with your needs and concerns.

Foster Care and Adoption: A Pathway to Understanding

By Heather Wilson, MA, ATR

Foster Care and Adoption: A Pathway to Understanding was created so that parents and professionals could help children in foster care gain a clearer picture of where they have been and what is happening to move them along the path to permanency. Filled with colorful illustrations and pages for the child to fill-in with his or her own information and illustrations, it is similar to a lifestory book and much more. It explains the process of transition and the roles of various professionals that foster youth meet along the way – case workers, therapists, attorneys, judges, and CASA's. And, it contains useful information and advice on personal space, dealing with feelings meeting your adoptive family, etc. You can borrow this book from ORPARC's library which will provide supplemental sheets of paper for your child to write and draw on, or you can purchase it from Kinship House by calling 503-460-2796 or order it from their web site: <http://kinshiphouse.org/resources/kinshippress.html>

In their Own Voices: Transracial Adoptees Tell their Stories

By Rita J. Simon and Rhonda M. Roorda ~ Review by Jennifer Ricks, MSW Intern at ORPARC

I was initially drawn to read this book by a desire to learn more about transracial adoption issues, and also because adoptees tell their own stories. Something I did not realize when I chose this book was that one of the authors, Rhonda M. Roorda, is a transracial adoptee, which added a depth to the interviews that only another transracial adoptee could bring and allowed her to pose insightful questions regarding issues adoptees faced and continue to face. From adoptees like Donna Francis who had a very positive adoption experience to Jessica Pelton who continues to struggle with her identity, all of the people interviewed bring a depth of experience and knowledge to the book. There were common themes such as identity, respect of culture, and familial relations that came up in almost all of the interviews that I found very interesting. There is also a summary at the end of the book, which I found to be very informative. If you have adopted transracially, or are considering it, it would behoove you to consider this book. It is an engaging read, and at times I had trouble putting it down.

Child Care Information Services

Marion, Polk and Yamhill counties

☎ 503-585-2491, 1-800-289-5533

A Caring Place is a FREE therapeutic respite care center for foster children, ages 6 weeks through 6 years, and provides an opportunity for children to receive some one-on-one attention and to learn social skills. Staffed by the Relief Nursery and trained volunteers, this is a great resource not only for foster kids but also for foster parents who need a break. Birth and adopted children of foster parents are eligible to attend ONLY if a foster child in the home is enrolled in the program.

Child Care Information Services (CCIS) provides parents with referrals to child care in their area. Services for child care providers include training, scholarships and support.

Family Caregiver Support Program

Program serves Clatsop, Marion, Polk, Tillamook and Yamhill counties

Program Coordinator:

Jenny Cokeley, 503-304-3429

- Clatsop: 503-738-5191
- Marion, Polk, Yamhill: 503-304-3429
- Tillamook: 503-842-2770

The Family Caregiver Support Program, a program of NorthWest Senior and Disability Services, provides supportive services to grandparents and other relatives, 55 years of age or older, who are raising a grandchild or another family member. These caregivers may be eligible for supportive services if a child, age 18 or under, is living in their home, and may be eligible for services such as trainings, support groups, counseling, and respite.

Family Caregiver Support Program

Multnomah County

Loriann McNeill, Coordinator

☎ 503-988-3646

✉ loriann.mcneill@co.mulnomah.or.us

Respite funds are available for family caregivers through Multnomah County's Family Caregiver Support Program. Financial assistance is available for grandparents and other relatives, age 55+, who are raising children ages 18 and younger. Funds may be used for respite, childcare, after school activities, summer programs & camps, and classes/workshops to assist elders raising a relative child.

Adoption Research Projects

Adopted Adolescent Attachment Study

Dr. Stephen Erich, at the University of Houston-Clear Lake, Texas, is carrying out an exciting new adoption research project to study adopted adolescent attachment. This research may help to identify factors related to adolescent attachment. Results will help professionals make better adoptive placement decisions as well as support adoptive family functioning. If you have adopted adolescents 11-18 years old living in your home, you are invited to complete the survey at the link below. Participants from diverse family types are encouraged to participate. Survey link at:

www.surveymonkey.com/s.asp?u=356622345303

Inclusive Child Care Program Survey

The Inclusive Child Care Program is conducting a statewide inventory of resources which support childcare for children and youth with special needs. The project is requesting that parents of children with special needs and childcare providers complete a survey that will help gather information on local resources. Survey links at:

Parent survey:

www.surveymonkey.com/s.asp?u=485823733728

Provider survey:

Summer Camps for Children, Teens

Complete summer camp listing at www.orparc.org

Camp can be a great learning experience and a lot of fun for your child, or it can be stressful and challenging. By taking time to find the right camp for your child, you can help promote a more positive experience for everyone. There are many different types of camps covering a variety of interests. A number of camps offer opportunities for children with special needs or in need of scholarships. We recommend that you research the camp and setting that best serve the needs of your child. Organizations under “Suggested Camp Resources” contain helpful suggestions on questions to ask camps to ensure a good fit for your child. Please call ORPARC if you would like a free Metro Parent Magazine Summer Education, Camps and Travel Guide, or for more information on camps.

Summer t-i-i-i-i-me, and the livin' is easy!

Yes, it's that time of year when the kids are home from school, "and the livin' is easy" ... for them, maybe, but what about you? In addition to all the other things on your plate, now you have the little one(s) to entertain and cater to. Fear not. It's ORPARC's friendly library to the rescue. Below are some ideas to help keep things on an even keel. Many of the titles speak for themselves.

Taking Care of Yourself

Books

- 📖 When Your Body Gets The Blues: The Clinically Proven Program for Women Who Feel Tired and Stressed and Eat Too Much
- 📖 Swings Hanging from Every Tree: Daily Inspirations for Foster & Adoptive Parents a page for every day of the year, each page contains a quotation and a story from an adoptive or foster life or a poem or words to live by
- 📖 The Daily Relaxer a book to help people deal with the stress in their lives, it is comprised of tension-relieving exercises that you can learn in five minutes; audiotapes for each part, to be borrowed separately

CD's

- 🎧 Laughter and Parenting: The Importance of Laughter When Nothing Seems Funny
- 🎧 Parenting with Humor Somewhere along the line, many of us who adopt find ourselves losing our sense of humor. Learn how with laughter, we can find joy in the midst of whatever life throws our way.

Audiotapes

- 🎧 Finding Inner Peace when Coping with Special Needs and Difficult Children
- 🎧 The Daily Relaxer: Calm Your Mind
- 🎧 The Daily Relaxer: Improve Your Mind
- 🎧 The Daily Relaxer: Refresh Your Spirit
