What Parents are Saying

“So grateful for this group - there aren't too many people out there who understand what this all means and how it impacts our lives.”

“Thank you for starting the group. It is nice to be able to ask questions and see how others are handling some of the same issues. This group makes me feel safe and I don't worry about being judged.”

“Thank you for what you do. I'm sure there are a lot of people that are being helped by reading the things you share here in this group.”

The Oregon Post Adoption Resource Center offers a private online parent group for state adoptive and guardianship families to connect and support each other.
